

Unique Automation is now a Crestron Integrated Partner

The world's first luxury bathroom automation company, Unique Automation is proud to announce its partnership with Crestron - a World leader in the systems integration market.

Crestron has been a world leader in home automation for 40 years. Offering integrated solutions for audio, video, computers, environmental and lighting control systems.

The partnership will allow bathomatic and future Unique Automation products to operate seamlessly in a Crestron systems environment offering the Crestron control systems programmer a simplified, timesaving drag-and-drop solution for the integration of the Unique Automation products.

The first Crestron Module is for bathomatic the World's first fully automated bath management system, which allows remote control and real time feed back from any bath tub, where installed. The communication method used is TCP/IP and a screenshots of the main two pages is below.

bathomatic fits all bath tubs available on the market place. As the company's spokesman once put it –“..bathomatic can fit and operate any vessel that can hold water”
